Peer Leader Spotlight

Our first Peer Leader Spotlight of the semester is Laura Spies! Along with being an Honors Peer Leader, Laura has made the most of her time at UNI by jumping at opportunities in her field of Earth Science Teaching.

This past summer, Laura worked as a land and water steward for Green Iowa AmeriCorps on campus at the Center for Energy & Environmental Education. Now, Laura serves as a research assistant at Tallgrass Prairie Center. Laura was able to get these positions by taking an interest in opportunities presented to her that went beyond the classroom learning experience. If you have questions about her experience or want to learn more, email Laura at spiesl@uni.edu.
What is HSAB?
The Honors Student Advisory Board (HSAB) is the active student voice of the University Honors Program. This select group of approximately 20 students plans events for the honors community.

Mission Statement: To connect honors students through intellectual and entertaining events.

Get involved: Be on the lookout for emails from HSAB about upcoming Honors events.

How you can join: Recruitment of new members occurs during the months of November and April, and all students of the University Honors Program are invited to join the organization. Honors students can get involved as a general board member or they can run for any of the five executive positions. Keep up-to-date with your honors emails for a chance to apply!
